ONLINE COVER Piano Forte. Human hands are complex and agile, but most robotic end effectors are simple and bulky. Hughes et al. used 3D-printing technology to create robotic devices that mimic human hands, with stiff skeletal frames surrounded by flexible "ligaments" controlling movement at joints. They varied ligament stiffness and the force applied to strike a piano key; the resulting data ...

Science in a broad sense existed before the modern era and in many historical civilizations. Modern science is distinct in its approach and successful in its results, so it now defines what science is in the strictest sense of the term. Science in its original sense was a word for a type of knowledge, rather than a specialized word for the pursuit of such knowledge. In particular, it was the ...

The criterion task used in Study 2 was an architectural design task modeled after a complex research and development problem (). We had a sample of 63 individuals complete this task working alone, and under these circumstances, individual intelligence was a significant predictor of performance on the task ($r = 0.33$, $P = 0.009$). When the same task was done by groups, however, the average ...

Antiscience is a position that rejects science and the scientific method. People holding antiscientific views do not accept that science as an objective method can generate universal knowledge. They also contend that scientific reductionism in particular is an inherently limited means to reach understanding of a complex world.

David DeSteno studies the ways in which emotions guide decisions and behaviors fundamental to social living. By examining moral and economic behaviors such as compassion and trust, cooperation and resilience, and dishonesty and prejudice, his work tries to illuminate how emotions can optimize our actions in favor of the greater good or, by virtue of bugs in the system, lead to suboptimal or ...
